

Summer 2026 – Secondary Courses

Our summer courses for teenagers are designed to provide engaging English language learning and help students develop their communication and academic skills in a motivating and interactive environment.

The core modular course includes themed weeks from the National Geographic Explorations programme, which encourages the use of authentic English-language sources such as books, videos and articles. Each one-week module explores current topics through language development activities, real-life tasks and project-based work. Teenagers are encouraged to engage actively with these topics because they are closely connected to their lives and the challenges of the future.

In addition to the core course, we also offer specialised summer programmes that allow students to focus on specific learning goals.

1. Secondary – Thematic Courses (Ages 12–17)

Learn English through inspiring real-world topics with the National Geographic Explorations programme. Students work with authentic materials – texts, images and videos – and participate in project-based activities that develop their communication skills.

Students will:

- improve their English through daily practice
- participate in discussions and project work
- develop teamwork skills
- explore topics such as technology, nature and sustainability.
